I am pleased to welcome you into the VisSim Free Academic Program (FAP). You have joined a large number of universities and colleges that are incorporating VisSim into their science and technology curriculums.

Please note the following about your FAP software:

* FAP is an older version of VisSim. Users have reported problems running it on the latest Windows/XP systems.
* FAP is an annual renewal license. To grant renewal, you are required to tell us what the students are designing.
* FAP does not include the Real-TimePRO add-on module. For pricing of the Real-TimePRO add-on, please contact sales@vissol.com.

We also offer the complete VisSim product line at substantially reduced prices for the academic community. Many colleges and universities who started with FAP have opted to purchase the academic version of the software. Please click on the URL below to access the Visual Solutions Academic Brochure and see how others in academia are using our software.
